NOTES FROM THE ELDERS

Summer Camp

The 2018 Summer Camp Sessions will be wrapping up soon. It has been another memorable and inspiring summer.

Youth Minister

We continue to search for a new Youth Minister. Recent discussions have yielded to young men who may be interested. Discussions with them continue this week.

Planning for Our Future

The Ministry Team will continue with planning for our future this fall. We began a new set of planning sessions in the spring with Mark Schinnerer leading the way. We are following his guidance from the book he published earlier this year called The Success Grower.

Questionnaire

We handed out a blank questionnaire last Sunday and would like each person to complete one and return it to us by the end of Sunday Service this coming Sunday.

Summer Intern

Haden Harper has blessed us this summer as our Youth Minister Intern. His last day with us before returning to college will be August 5th. Please thank him for serving and wish him well as he continues his pursuit of a degree.

Visitors

We have been blessed with many visitors recently. Please take a few minutes before and after events to greet them and thank them for visiting our church family. And, ask them if we can serve them in any way.

God's Decisions

As your Elders, we always strive to please God and to leave every decision to Him. Sometimes it may seem we are taking too long to make decisions, but we just want you to know that we work on God's time, and that we pray about everything.

Jill's Corner:

Last night, I had a dream. It was a dream that was so vivid, I could actually feel my body trying to fight, but everything was a struggle. I will spare you the gory details, but when my eyes suddenly flew open, my first thought was a cry out to God.

"Father God, I was fighting for these kids' lives!"

In the next instance, I knew I had to share this with all of you, and I couldn't find my computer quick enough. You see, I have struggled for over three years now, since I took on the children's ministry at Sunset. I often wonder if this is really what God wants me to be doing. This morning, I have no doubt. I have heard his answer. God does want me here.

I am battling for these children's lives.

Recently, I have been talking to many of you about teaching Bible class this Fall quarter, but today, I want to tell you, you are not just filling 45 minutes each week with meaningless time fillers.

You are battling for these children's lives.

This may sound crazy, but we can read in the Bible that we are in a battle – a spiritual battle – all of the time. Charlie spoke of it yesterday. He said, we often have to fight against our own will. We don't always feel a desire to serve. We would rather just sit and passively listen in our own comfortable adult classroom. It's easier. You don't have to prepare anything, you don't have to fight for the attention of a child, you don't have to correct anyone who is talking out of turn. But if we don't fight against these thoughts, and teach our little ones, who will win them over?

Who will battle for these children's lives?

I am so thankful that we do have so many who are willing to teach our little ones. They are the future leaders of God's church! I am so thankful for each week that we are able to lead them in a closer relationship with God. I pray that each one of them will be led to do all of the things that God will call them to do. I am anxiously awaiting the future of this church. I want to sincerely thank all of those who go to battle for their souls each week.

Our new Fall quarter starts Wednesday, August 1. The quarter will run from August through October in order to more closely match our school starting dates. So, Sunday, August 5 is Promotion Sunday! I always like to take one day a year to make a big deal of our kids' progress and to show them all that they have learned. I want to show them how special they are to each of us. We will have a special Bible class time in the gym for all of the kids from preschool through 5th grade. We will not only look back at what they've learned, but we will also look ahead to what they will be learning in the upcoming quarter.

Please make plans for your kids to join us in the gym,

Sunday, August 5 for Promotion Sunday!

These are our new teachers (and our new classes) for the Fall quarter!
